Northville
Downtown Development Authority

Welcome to the January edition of the Northville Times, proudly brought to you by the Northville Downtown Development Authority!

Happy New Year from Downtown Northville! As we step into 2026, we're filled with gratitude for an incredible 2025, a year full of unforgettable events, community connections, and continued growth in our vibrant downtown. From lively festivals to new business openings and beautiful public spaces, there was so much to celebrate. Now, with the energy of a fresh start, we're looking ahead to another exciting year of progress, charm, and local pride. Cheers to new beginnings and more unforgettable moments in Downtown Northville!

A landmark since 1971, Genitti's originally started out as a meat and grocery store.

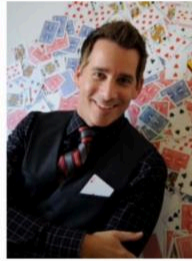

In November 1979, owners John and Toni opened their restaurant when a hole was knocked out of the market's side, giving birth to Genitti's-Hole-In-The-Wall. In 1981, the restaurant was expanded to the building next door. Fall of 1985 brought yet another expansion with the downstairs dining room, bar and gift shop which were later converted to provide additional dining space.

Genitti's Little Theater which is just next to the restaurant is accessible through yet another hole-in-the-wall was acquired in 1992.
